L'SHANAH TOVAH TIKATEIVU

Dear Shearith Family,

After a difficult and challenging year how ready are we for this new beginning?

The entire Klei Kodesh is so very grateful for this opportunity to gather together to renew our strength and hope and most importantly our ties as a Shearith Israel family.

We had hoped that the pandemic would be behind us at this point, but we will not let that disappoint us or stop us from engaging with our tradition, drawing inspiration from our spiritual home, whether in person in our sanctuaries or at home through our online portal—shearith.live.

No matter where you spend the High Holy Days this year, please know how much we value you, how much we appreciate your support and patience over this past year, and how determined we are to keep this amazing community thriving, engaged, and forward looking no matter what this next year may bring.

May we all be inscribed for a year of sweetness, goodness, and life,

*Rabbi Ari Sunshine
Rabbi Shira Wallach
Rabbi Adam Roffman
Hazzan Itzhak Zhrebker
Avi Mitzner*

MAY WE ALL BE INSCRIBED

“This is a true story. I've been a lifelong member of Shearith Israel. Shearith has been a part of my daily life and all my family's special lifecycle events. But, about eleven years ago, I felt a void. I wanted a deeper connection to Judaism, so I joined Shearith's Adult B'nei Mitzvah class. I knew I'd learn (or re-learn) about davening and prayer, but I hadn't realized how much it would reinvigorate my joy in attending services. The haftorah we learned in class was the very haftorah from my bar mitzvah, so I guess it was B'shert—meant to be.

Last year, when everything closed down because of COVID, I watched as our community grew even closer through daily online minyans, Shabbat services, and wonderful classes and programs. I saw how much comfort we all took from each other. I learned from Avi Mitzner's twice weekly class after morning minyans and Rabbi Adam Roffman's Thursday afternoon classes.

Then, in spite of everything, Shearith grew stronger! We've accomplished so much in the past year under Rabbi Ari Sunshine's leadership. Our Weitzman Family Religious School grew to over 100 students. Our Social Action committee innovated several new opportunities to help both the Dallas and Jewish communities. Rabbi Shira Wallach guided our youngest members and their families, helping them stay connected during this challenging time.

Hazzan Itzhak Zhrebker lifted us in song. And Kim West, along with our administration, Board of Directors, and our Foundation worked diligently to ensure our financial stability.

When we began gathering again this past summer, I was struck that each Shabbat morning when I'd see a new face at shul, our members always went over and introduced themselves and welcomed every single newcomer.

For all these reasons, Shearith is my home and my family. And, with all that Shearith has given me and our community, I'm so proud to be able to give back. And that, unlike the tall tales I tell during Shabbat Announcements, actually is a true story!"

- Shearith Israel President, Irving Prengler

PRAYER

"After my father passed away I began attending evening Minyan services. Because it was my first experience with "true" mourning, I didn't know what to expect. I learned there's a 7-day shiva period, a 30-day shloshim period, and an 11-month period of reciting the mourner's kaddish. I found the minyan experience to be educational and healing. I grew up at Shearith and my daughters each had their b'nei mitzvah at Shearith, so I immediately saw some familiar faces. Avi Mitzner, Cantor Z, Alan Sandgarten, and Cary Rudberg, to name a few. Over the months other mourners joined us and we became each other's support system and good friends. Each month David Karlebach organized monthly social, minyan dinners.

Surprisingly, the 11 months went faster than I expected. Because of that, and my new friends, I continue coming to evening minyan services—maybe not as frequently. I also come because it's a mitzvah and to show my support for more recent mourners and those observing yahrzeits, so they will have enough people to say kaddish. Now, I'm inviting you to come, you'll help someone else, and who knows, you may even help yourself in the process. If you decide to come to evening minyan and you see a tall, bald-headed and bearded fella, come on over and introduce yourself."

ADULT LEARNING

"Women's Torah Study has provided an amazing opportunity to study with a group of women and have a female rabbi, Rabbi Shira Wallach, serve as our facilitator and teacher. I am always blown away by the depth of knowledge, brutal honesty and deep thinking that emanates from this group. During the pandemic it has been particularly wonderful to sign into Zoom on Wednesdays and know that we will see each other, and sometimes, even George (Rabbi Wallach's Goldendoodle.)

We begin each class with the blessing for learning and studying Torah. Then each of us dedicates our study. Hearing my fellow learners' dedications—their moments of celebration and mourning—has brought us all closer together. Our study has been diverse too. We have studied the parshah of the week which can be a very different approach than the study on Shabbat morning. We have also studied commentary from women and the Talmud from a women's point of view. It has been most enriching from both the learning and growth aspect as well as in the making of wonderful, supportive friendships."

VOLUNTEERING

"Mitzvah Meals began in 2009, when I received a call, asking me to help organize meal delivery to an ill congregant. From there, the Mitzvah Meals Program began and grew. As of today, we have delivered well over 700 meals and good cheer to Shearith Israel congregants who have medical conditions that required hospitalization or who have special needs at home. Either the klei kodesh or a fellow congregant lets me know of someone who would benefit from receiving meals. I set the schedule and work out dietary restrictions. Then, working with my volunteers, we schedule meal delivery. I'm fortunate to be able to have a part in the mitzvot of bikkur cholim, visiting the sick, and of gemilut chasadim, performing acts of loving kindness. By helping in a small way, the Mitzvah Meals volunteers let our congregants and those caring for them, know that we care. I can't think of a more powerful message we can send to those who are ill."

SOCIAL ACTION

"What can $1000 buy? Twice as much as expected! A couple months ago at a Social Action meeting, co-chairs Mindy Fagin and Andrea Solka mentioned an organization,

Pajamas for Seniors started by a hospice nurse. The nurse had noticed a lot of patients had nothing to wear besides a hospital gown and for their dignity and comfort she wanted patients to have pajamas. When the program had been in place for a while, she found that she desperately needed men's pajamas, especially in extra-large sizes. The Shearith Social Action budget had $1000 to put toward this project. In researching pajamas, I found a great deal on large sizes on Hanes.com, with a coupon and a special sale I was able to buy 80 pairs of pajamas. I wrote to Hanes and told them our story and Hanes matched us, donating an additional 80 pairs! In July, along with Rabbi Adam Roffman and Andrea Solka, we delivered new PJs to the residents of Linden Park Rehab and celebrated Hanukkah (and Christmas) in July!

If you want to do hands on activities, if you want to help choose projects, and if you want to meet new Shearith friends, come join us!"

FAMILY CENTER

"We got involved with the Shearith Israel Family Center after our son, Noah, was born. We wanted him to grow up involved in a vibrant and loving Jewish community where he could build a strong Jewish identity. We feel like this community and his growing understanding of his heritage are lifelong gifts that will help ground him and support him as he grows.

As our family has grown, we have gotten to enjoy the fun monthly Shababas led by Rabbi Shira Wallach and other Family Center events. We have loved coming together with other Jewish families to celebrate holidays and Shabbat.

Having the Family Center was especially helpful during the High Holy Days when our children were very young and couldn't participate in traditional services. We found the family services to be such a meaningful introduction to the more complex parts of Judaism for our kids, and it gave us a meaningful way to engage our children in the holidays. We are very grateful to have been involved in the family center and are excited to continue sharing these experiences with our kids."

WEITZMAN FAMILY RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

"My sons aren't the first Golmans at Weitzman Family Religious School (WFRS). Our family membership at Congregation Shearith Israel goes back over 100 years. I had my Bar Mitzvah here and this congregation was a big part of my childhood. My wife and I want our sons to have a similarly rich, community-filled Shearith experience.

My oldest son is a first grader at WFRS, and my younger son is in the kindergarten class. I wanted to help ensure their classes were robust, with lots of opportunities to meet new friends, so I reached out to Sarah Lipinsky, the Director of Education. Sarah invited me to become part of the Youth Education Committee. I'm thrilled that I get to be involved in their religious school experience. Whenever I meet other Jewish parents with similar age kids, I always tell them about Shearith's religious school. Our whole family is excited for this new year to begin."

MEMBERSHIP

"When I moved to Dallas after college, a friend brought me to his shul –Shearith Israel–for the High Holy Days. I immediately felt at home. It was just the connection to Judaism that I was looking for. I got involved with the young adult group right away. When I met my now-husband and I found out that he grew up at Shearith (and for a host of other reasons) I knew it was B'shert—meant to be. Now that we have two young children, we love how much there is to do and participate in at Shearith's Family Center. We love Shababa services and the Messy Party each spring. Because our family has had so much fun, and our connection to Shearith is so important to us, I've taken on an ambassador role. I get to welcome new families and let them know all about our shul."

- Sara Bodzy

COLLEGE CONNECTION

"One of my favorite parts of being involved with College Connection, the group that creates two care packages a year for Shearith's college-aged students, is packing the boxes with other parents. We all enjoy the bonding experience as well as the shared journey that we, as parents, are experiencing.

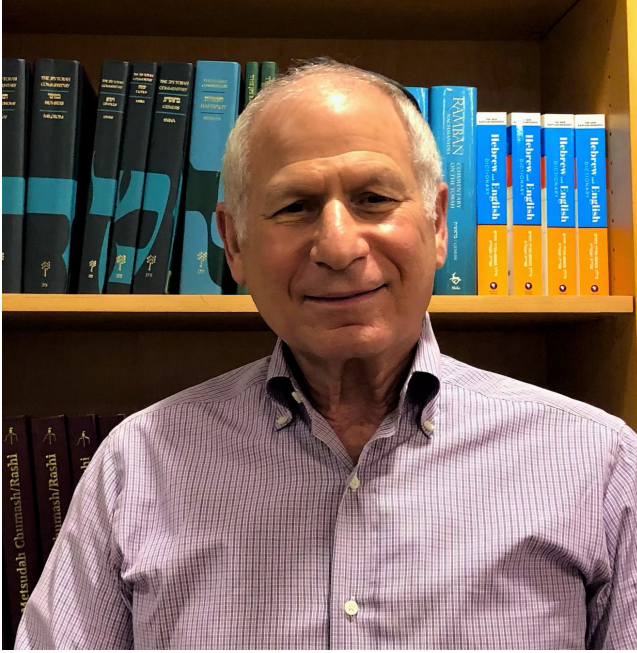

We send the first package for the High Holy Days and the second is Mishloach Manot for Purim. The care packages show we are thinking about our young adults during the holidays. We craft a message that includes the mitzvot and customs of these holidays and create beautiful and delicious treat boxes. These boxes crystalize the essence of the holidays, and continue a connection with Shearith, as well as enrich our young adults' Judaism. We hope when our students return to Dallas, they will continue their connection with our community."

SHEARITH ISRAEL FOUNDATION

"I'm active at Shearith Israel because I care. I've been a member for 62 years and Shearith has been a part of my family's major events from births to burials. Shearith is also a significant part of the Jewish and Dallas communities.

We all have favorite 'causes' and I'm very enthusiastic and proud about all aspects of Shearith's leadership, including the increasing number of Congregants of all ages getting involved. Now that I'm retired, and have the time and desire to give back, I decided that Congregation Shearith Israel's Foundation is a great way for me to be involved in something that is and will be a very important part of the shul's future.

Some members don't even realize Shearith has a Foundation or know about the Foundation's critical role in providing sizeable money every year to help with Shearith's programs and operations. I'm proud to take on the mitzvah of helping make congregants aware of the important work the Foundation does and helping my fellow members understand how the Foundation can be even more impactful in perpetuity as it becomes larger. People support what they understand and believe in, and the Foundation is an important part of Congregation Shearith Israel's future. The results can be contagiously successful, and that's my motivation."

MUSIC

"Twenty years ago, with my dad's enthusiasm and under the guidance of Cantor Zhrebker, I accomplished the most important step in becoming a Jewish woman—having my B'nei Mitzvah at age 41. Not only did I reconnect with my Judaic upbringing, I renewed my love for singing and chanting.

Since then, I have loved heading the music program with my dear friend Cantor Zhrebker, along with the help and guidance of my wonderful committee members. Each year we thoughtfully plan a wide array of Jewish music. Next year, along with monthly musical Shabbats, we're planning a music event featuring Music from Around the World and a special celebration honoring Cantor Zhrebker's 25th Anniversary!

20s & 30s

"In 2019, my fiancée Jared and I joined Shearith Israel. We wanted to become actively involved in the Jewish Community before our wedding. Since the day we were married in Beck Family Sanctuary by Rabbi Ari Sunshine, almost a year ago, we've made lifelong friends through services and celebrations at Shearith Israel. One of our favorite groups is Shearith's 20s & 30s. We love the camaraderie and the great discussions at Torah on Tap. There's no better way to work on developing our modern Jewish identity and discuss Torah, than with a cold beer and kosher pizza, alongside our Rabbis. Events like Torah on Tap have brought Jared and I closer to each other and to our community.

We are so thankful for the staff and Klei Kodesh for helping us through a difficult 2020 and look forward to many more years and memories at Shearith!"

PRIME

"More of an age and a stage, than a number, Shearith Prime caters to adults who are 50s -60s-ish.

Let's face it, Shearith can be a pretty big place. That's where Prime comes in, by offering social opportunities for a smaller group of people to come together in a more intimate setting. It might be for a Shabbat dinner in a member's home, or a picnic to celebrate Lag B'omer, or a movie night.

When I hosted the first Prime Shabbat Dinner some people were old friends, but many were new friends, too. Since Avi Mitzner began organizing Shearith Prime, I have felt more a part of the Shearith community. Prime allows me to think of Shearith as a place for fun or learning in a more casual way than just coming to services. I hope this year we will be able to have more in-person events. I'll definitely be there and hope that I will see you there."

"Several years ago, we met with the rabbi at Shearith to establish a fund. As we discussed what we wanted the fund to do, we immediately thought about supporting our seniors since we both had recently lost a parent. We hoped the fund would focus attention and gratitude on our seniors. We also wanted to provide entertainment, education, an increased sense of worth, and provide help for seniors and their children.

That's how Shearith's Pillars group began. Pillars has welcomed guest speakers and entertainers, hosted bingo and movie get-togethers, held resource fairs with vendor booths, and many other activities. One of our favorites is the annual Golden Years Shabbat celebrating our beloved seniors.

We're so proud of this group because our seniors are worth it. We hope other members will agree and choose to participate."

SISTERHOOD

"Reflecting on last year, one highlight for me was SISTERhood's Special Interest Groups, like Book Club, Yarn Yentas, and the Cultural Outings and Lunch Bunch. These smaller communities within SISTERhood, were a source of support and a wonderful way for women to connect during a tough year. The Book Club met over Zoom and had record turnout. The Yarn Yentas also met virtually and knitted and crocheted wheelchair lap blankets for veterans, hats and scarves for the homeless, premie hats for newborns to help the tiniest babies retain their body heat, and hats for Chemo patients. What an amazing way to give back when so many are in need. The Cultural Outings Group was able to go to lunch and tour the Dallas Museum of Biblical Art.

I first got involved with SISTERhood when I was invited to a lunch several years ago by the mother of one of my friends. I've always enjoyed the diverse ages of women who come together to make up SISTERhood. I'm hoping many of my friends with kids at Weitzman Family Religious School we'll continue to get more involved.

For me, SISTERhood makes our big Shearith community smaller. And our SISTERhood is part of the Women's League of Conservative Judaism, a group of 400 sisterhoods across the globe that learn together, advocate, and generously support scholarships for future Conservative rabbis and hazzanim."
